

Quiz Night raises over $2,000

What a night! The bar at the Newfield Tavern was overflowing with people in what the Tavern said was their second biggest quiz night, ever.

A roaring fire kept our 35 teams warm and they were well looked after by the Tavern staff, who were great hosts. We'd like to say a very big thank-you to everyone that came – we appreciate your support very much. And our deep gratitude to the companies and people listed below who donated prizes – which enabled us to raise the fantastic sum of $2,144 for South Alive projects.

Hanging Baskets Workshop

Learn how to plant and maintain a hanging basket at a free workshop in August.

It's just about time for South Alive to plant a new set of hanging baskets for Elles Road and this time we thought we'd go for lots of colour and perhaps some side planting as well. We also thought there might be others who'd like to learn how to plant their own baskets. So we approached Diacks Nurseries who've very kindly agreed to do a free workshop. There are heaps of ways you can participate – you could just come and observe, and possibly help plant the South Alive baskets, or you could bring a basket with you and plant your own. Diacks will bring a trailer-load of dirt, as well as baskets and plants for those who want to buy these on the day.

The workshop will be in the South Alive Park at the back of the shopping mall (corner Grace and Ness Streets) at 2pm on Saturday 17 August. All welcome.

Community Garden Boxes

We've established our community garden boxes as a place to gather and meet others while growing food for the community – and they're looking fantastic with vegetables, herbs, strawberries and rhubarb all making a showing.

We've got 18 boxes in total and we're aiming to have a mix of boxes adopted by groups in the community and other 'South Alive' boxes which are for everybody/anybody to plant and tend, with no individual ownership. Ranui and Kew Kindergartens and the St Andrews Young Achievers Group have all adopted and planted boxes. If you are a group – whether young or old, cultural, sporting, education or something else! we'd love to have you be part of the garden. Give us a call.

Our motto - A community that gardens together, grows together!

The Neighbourhood Projects FUND

Up to $1,000 matching funds to help you do something good in your neighbourhood

Really! Any project that will be beneficial and make your neighbourhood more fun, beautiful or easier to live in is likely to qualify - for example, it could be an arts or craft project, or something that develops skills in the community, or perhaps a project which upgrades or improves the neighbourhood. Individuals or groups are eligible.

So, think up some ideas and come along to a workshop if you'd like some help to develop your proposal. See 'What's On' below for days/times. For more about the fund, pick up an Information Sheet from our office, or download it off our website. Applications have to be in by the 16 September.

South Alive Choir sings on - new members welcome

to - like Dust in the Wind, Razzamatazz, California Dreaming, Beach Boys Blast, Shake Rattle and Roll and The Cat Came Back. Jo Cooper, choir organiser and accompanist, says they'd love to get even more members, including more men so if you think you could be interested, why not go for a look one night. There are no auditions, everyone is welcome. Thursdays at 7pm at the St Andrews Church on Elles Road. See 'What's On' below for more details.

The choir is in full voice, with the 20 or so members having lots of fun at their weekly practice nights and giving the odd performance here and there.

With conductor Sharon Taylor (day job teaching music at St Johns Girls School) the choir is in good hands and the emphasis is on songs that are easy to sing and listen
